

Screaming O Goes Red, White and Alektra Blue

LOS ANGELES — Adult performer Alektra Blue will be turning up the heat with adult toy manufacturer The Screaming O, at their booth at Erotica LA this weekend.

Alektra Blue will be meeting fans and even jump up on the main stage during the "Screaming O"rgasm contests hosted by Screaming O spokesmodel and adult performer Nikki Benz Friday through Sunday at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

The Arizona native and F.A.M.E. award winner for Favorite Rookie Starlet will be signing autographs and posing for photos in the booth. "I'm always excited to be meeting the fans and I get free cock rings," Blue said.

The Screaming O, the Southern California based adult toy manufacturer's namesake ring was recently awarded as one of the top sex toys in Women's Health Magazine's 2007 First Annual Sex Awards, and currently is one of the fastest-selling toy lines in adult stores across the country.

"We couldn't be happier; Alektra's star is on the rise and we've worked with her before at a previous show and think she is really terrific" Keith Caggiano of The Screaming O said.

The Screaming O will be promoting their line of disposable and nondisposable vibrating rings at booth No. 1225 Saturday through Sunday. Blue will be available for the full length of the show to meet her fans, and sign autographs and photos.

For more information on Alektra visit ClubAlektraBlue.com and TheScreamingO.com

<http://www.xbiz.com/news/23719>